

Helping Our Children Shine

NOVEMBER PACE MEETING

Social Emotional Panel – Parent Discussion

Although giftedness is often evaluated and seen through the lens of intellectual achievement, giftedness also often comes with a variety of social and emotional needs. Anxiety, perfectionism, and stress are part of the day to day lives of many gifted students. Heightened awareness and emotional empathy, intellectual maturity paired with age appropriate immaturity, issues with peer relationships and sense of self manifest in many of our gifted children.

Please join us for a panel discussion about Social Emotional Needs of gifted children. Talk with other families about your shared experiences raising these exhilarating, frustrating, wonderful kids.

Thursday, November 28, 2018, from 6:30-8:00 p.m.

Georgian Heights Elementary School
784 Georgian Drive, Columbus, Oh 43228

PACE is a Volunteer Parent Group

We are a community of parents, grandparents, guardians, and families in CCS.

We work together to help gifted children shine. We know the frustrations, the joys, and the intensity of raising a gifted child, and we support all those who are on this difficult and wonderful journey. We are affiliated with the

Ohio Association for Gifted Children.
